Tending Our Gardens is an invitation to tend to our own growth and well-being. The fast pace of living today exerts great demands on us to be effective in our work and personal lives. To live well in these times is not just about acquiring another skill or working faster but it is about staying centred to what we really care about. This requires us to pause to step back, reflect and respond to what we face each day, so that we can re-align to our purpose and passion. Tending Our Gardens offer us a hospitable space to re-connect to what matters and to re-enter our day refreshed.
